A POINT FOR BINGHAM. Appellate Division Supports His Conten tion in Suit Against Gayner.

Gen. Theodore A. Bingham got a favor ole decision from the Appellate Division appeal from the order of Supreme Court

The allegations stricken out referred to Gen. Bingham's previous army record d his service as superintendent of the te House grounds under President anding in the community, holding that standing in the community, holding that these facts relating to himself and Mr. Gaynor affected the extent to which he was damaged. Justice Houghton, writing the Appellate Division opinion, says he fainks the allegations were material as ather tending to show actual malice or has aggravation of damages.

Justice Houghton says that Gen. Bingham has the right to say in his complaint if he saw fit that he told Mr. Gaynor of the true state of affairs with respect to the Duffy case before the defendant published the alleged libel, "for the purpose of showing personal ill will, a desire to do harm."

He says this is necessary to support

He says this is necessary to support Gen. Bingham's contention that he is entitled to punitive damages in addition to mere compensation for wrong, by which he must "show express malice as distinguished from the legal malice which the law implies from a publication of false defamatory matter."

N. Y. CENTRAL ASKS TIME. Onable to Finish Terminal Improvements

on the Date Promised to the City. When the New York Central obtained ion to depress its tracks in part of Park avenue and succeeded in having some of the crossing streets closed to provide for the reconstruction of the Grand Central Station it was provided by the city that the work should be fin-by the city that the work should be finished by December 31, 1909. It was further provided that heavy penalties should be imposed for delay.

The company has been unable to carry out the obligation it made and applied yesterday to the Public Service Commission for an extension of time to January 39, 1911. Before passing on the appeal the commission will make an investigation of the work which has been done and of the time which will be required to complete it. As a preliminary to this investigation the commission will hold a public hearing on December 24.

SETBACK FOR ROCKAWAY PARK ONLY SIX CORESPONDENTS NOW.

Frederick L. Higgins, one of the co-espondents named by Edwin E. Martin n his suit for divorce from Etta H. Martin, estified yesterday before Justice Crane in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn as t his relations with the defendant. said that he is a tenor singer in the choir of the Sumner Avenue Methodist Church of which Mrs. Martin was directress; that he was very friendly with the latter and often saw her home after choir practice and sang with her, even after her separation from her husband, but that their intimacy went no futrher than that.

Stephen H. Baldwin of counsel for Martin caused a titter by asking the witness if he had ever sung anything Martin caused a titter by asking the witness if he had ever sung anything besides religious songs; for example, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night." Higgins made a hasty denial and Justice Crane ordered both question and answer stricken from the record.

Several other witnesses testified for the defence. Some of them said that they had seen Mrs. Martin sitting in the front window on the second floor of her home, 414 Hancock street, smoking cigarettes; that they had seen her take a man in and keep him there all night, and others claimed to have seen her act indiscreetly, or worse, in the Pacific street flat to which she moved after separating from her husband.

Most of the testimony given so far, however is about alleged offences claimed to have been condoned by her husband-offences alleged before he decided to bring suit—orabout supposititious offences that rest largely on circumstantial evidence. The only really direct evidence was that furnished by the negro maid-servant, Mary Woods.

So a motion was made yesterday to strike out the names of several of the corespondents. Justice Crane decided that such action was justified in the case of "one Knapp. occupation unknown." but in the cases of Dr. William C. Woolsey, Fred Iglehart and Higgins he decided to reserve action until all the testimony is in. If all these are eliminated it will leave Dr. De Beers, the Boston dentist; Lem Hall, the college baseball player, and Frank H. Morris, the lawyer, the only corespondents.

A MAN FRIDAY IN TOWN. But Gov. Deneen's Friends Don't Recognize the Newcomer After the arrival of the early train from the West yesterday morning a tall, heavily mustached man blew into the Hotel Belmont and scrawled on the register "O. D. Buchecker, Three Forks, Mon." Underneath he wrote, as if parenthetically, "Gov. Charles S. Deneen's Man Friday. Sorry," said the busy clerk, "we have no rooms as yet." "What? by the great jumping Je-hosaphat! Do you mean to tell me there ain't a bed to be had in this skyseraping Club of Brooklyn, the Republican Club, ranch?"

The clerk pointed to the long list of names on the register to which rooms had not yet been assigned. The departures for the day had not begun and rooms could only be assigned as fast as some-body went away. He suggested to the visitor that he drop in again later in the day. He did, about the middle of the after-

DETECTIVES GET IT TOO. Increase of Pay for Lieutenants Applies to First Grade Sleuths.

The increase of $250 a year for police lieutenants, which was recently voted and approved, will apply also to the pay of the first grade detectives. Commissioner Baker, who asked Corporation Counsel Pendleton for his opinion on this subject, announced his decision yesterunder the so-called Bingham law of 1907, which abolished the rank of detective sergeant and substituted for it that of first grade detective, the pay of first grade detectives must be the same as grade detectives must be the same as that of lieutenants. The increase in the pay of the first grade detectives, therefore, he considers to be mandatory.

There are 628 lieutenants and 120 first grade detectives in the department. Beginning with this month they will all be paid at the rate of $2,250 a year instead of $2,000.

Commissioner Baker said the surplus from the budget for 1909 would be enough to meet the increase for the month of December. The budget for 1910, which was presented on July 15, contemplated no such increase of pay and the Commissioner said he thought there would have to be a sale of special revenue bonds for the purpose.

3 New Appellate Division Court Rules. The Judges of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court formulated yester-day new rules for the court, the chief of day new rules for the court, the chief of which changes the hours for sessions from a pholos that the State law conflicts the Federal statute which provides him hour day for despatchers. The monthly calendar and substituted a yearly calendar upholds Judge Hightower of will now be called at 10:30 o'clock by the clerk instead of by the Court as heretofore.

BALLOT REFORM SUGGESTIONS

at the City Club yesterday afternoon by representatives of the Union League Federated Union, the Brooklyn Young Republican Club, the Cleveland Democracy, the Independent Club of the West Side and the City Club. Among those in attendance were Almet R. Latson of the Union League Club of Brooklyn, C. B. Smith, Mr. Seldon of the Cleveland Democracy, Horace Deming, Joseph sohn of the Republican Club, Mr. De Berard of the Merchants Association, James H. Hatch, president of the Central Federated Union; Mr. Kershaw of the Brooklyn Young Republican Club, and Mr. Benkard, former secretary of the Citizens

The meeting resolved itself into a sort possible a reasonable ballot reform. The sense of the meeting was that there should be no attempt to force the Massachusetta ballot upon the people, but that an effort be made to secure a real improvement of the ballot this year. A committee on plan and acope was appointed, to report at the next conference, which will be held at a time indi-cated by the committee, which consists of Almet R. Latson, Neison S. Spencer, James H. Hatch, Horace E. Deming and Morgan J. O'Brien.

Why citizens who fail to elect prope representatives as delegates to convention or legislators should be expected to exer cise more discrimination if conventions were abolished and all officers were nominated and elected directly I cannot understand. It seems to me that the occupation of the professional politician is be nent of our institutions.

There is no man to-day who has the courage to speak from his actual convictions who would not if it were practicable curtail suffrage. In a pure democracy there are no intervening agents or departments.

The people meet together and decide all questions viva voce and directly vote upon them all. A nation of $5,000,000 cannot be them all. A nation of 85,000,000 cannot be governed except by representation.

We must recognize that professional politicians are a necessity, and the more respectable we make the occupation the better government we will have. The professional politician is the last modern creation which, fully armed and equipped. has sprung from the brain of our great re-public. The reformers are treating for a skin disease when the vital organs are

To give the voter the direct power to nominate is to substitute an infinitely worse evil than that which now exists. For each evil than that which now exists. For each office instead of two or three candidates we should have many. Political modesty, a quality already sufficiently rare, would soon disappear and each citizen would feel that he was as good as another for a given office. The demagogue would come to the surface—not disguised as a patriot but in his real costume—and then confusion worse confounded.

time special roadways without grade crossings will be constructed in all parts of New York city for the use of motor driven vehicles and regards the Manhattap Bridge as an opportunity to make a trial of the advantages of that system.

Winthrop Scarritt, a member of the Automobile Club of America, has also suggested that the crowded parts of Broadway be confined to the use of self-propelled vehicles, as their facility for moving rapidly would prevent traffic from being held up. Mr. Scarritt believes that horse drawn conveyances should be limited to less crowded districts.
